GUARANTEE

Our furniture carries a five-year guarantee against defective parts, workmanship, or rust. Resolution of any claims, however, requires written authorization and disposition from the Customer Service Department.

FINISH

The finish on both Ames-Aire and Rid-Jid Casuals is designed to stay bright and fresh looking for years. The finish is an electrostatically applied, baked enamel that adheres so tightly you can dent the steel without chipping the paint. Underneath is zinc plated steel with bonderizers that keep it from rusting even when severe abuse may scratch the surface. If after years of service, scratches develop, it can easily be touched up with any high quality acrylic paint readily available in spray cans.

CORD REPAIR

Ames-Aire cord and strap, while manufactured to standards tough enough to enable it to withstand even abnormal abuse, can be cut or occasionally broken. When this happens, repair is simple. No special tools or glue are needed. All that is required is a source of heat, such as a cigarette or 150 watt bulb, and a scissors.

- Step 1 — Trim off both ends of break, leaving clean, sharp edges.
- Step 2 — Hold both edges near heat source. DO NOT MELT OR BURN.
- Step 3 — While edges are still hot, quickly join (butt) them together and hold firmly until cool.
- Step 4 — If the new joint is not neat, trim off excess laps.
- Step 5 — If the repair is done properly, the new joint will be as strong as the original cord and will be practically invisible.

ROUTING

Unless otherwise specified on customer's order, all shipments will be routed at the discretion of the Traffic Department.
